On May 28th truck number 29 did a very nice deed for the residents on Ivy Street in West Hempstead across from the municipal lot.

National Grid had trimmed trees and left a large amount of branches on the curb and into the street. Neighbors called but they didn't pick up what they left behind. The branches were there for two weeks.

When I saw the truck come to remove garbage on the morning of the 28th I told the crew what happened and they were sympathetic and took the time to remove the branches and restore our street to its clean and safe state. We know it was beyond the scope of their duties.

We are very grateful and appreciative for their diligence, hard work and willingness to assist us. Please let the crew know how happy we are to get our street clean again.

If we see National Grid do that again we will make a formal complaint.

Sincerely,

Barbara St
